Mike and Stacy Odiorne had several goals in mind when they decided to remodel their kitchen last year. They wanted to open the space to the adjacent family room for ease of entertaining, they wanted to update the look and functionality with a clean, streamlined appearance and new appliances, and they wanted to increase the storage space.

The challenge was how to gain more space. The solution was to open the kitchen to the family room by removing the laundry in between and relocating it. The result was room enough to include an island with sink, dishwasher and seating.

The Odiornes now have plenty of storage space, greater efficiency and improved lighting.

By removing the soffit, taller wall cabinets could be installed to add to the storage capacity. A small raised bar separates the kitchen from family room with a bar sink and ice maker. Deep cove moulding was installed above the cabinets to the ceiling. Cherry cabinets by Schrock in a deep chocolate stain were selected in a simple Craftsman style and contrasted with lighter Silestone countertops in Ivory Coast. Stainless appliances from Bosch and Miele were chosen for their quality and features.

pleased with the results. “After a previous nightmare experience with remodeling, CSI was truly a professional experience. They provided me with a timeline and budget and stuck to both,” says Mike Odiorne, “They made living through a renovation as convenient as possible. All of their workers were courteous and respectful.”

LEICHT'S CONCEPT 40 WINS TOP PRIZE

Leicht's innovative wall system "Concept 40" has won the prestigious "Best of the Best" design prize at the IMM International Furnishings Show in Cologne, Germany this January. Leicht was the only kitchen cabinet manufacturer to win this award.

Concept 40 is a wall system that creates an integrated flat wall of storage above the work surface.

The work surface is designed to be deeper than normal to accommodate sinks and cooktops. The units are a series of cabinets with flip up or swing out doors with the bottom row being open to the countertop. The overall appearance when closed is a horizontal design emphasized with aluminum grip rails. Combine the wall units with a base on a raised plinth for a truly contemporary design statement.

CSI is the exclusive dealer for Leicht in the Atlanta area. Visit our showroom or call to make an appointment with your CSI sales representative to see what Leicht has to offer.

SCHROCK ROLLS OUT MAJOR NEW PRODUCT LAUNCH

We are very excited about Schrock's new product launch for 2008. They have added new colors, a new door style, cabinet options and features galore!

The new colors are Moss, a soft green glazed finish on maple styles; Palomino, a warm brown stain with glaze on maple, cherry or alder; and Heirloom Black, a black painted finish on maple with rubbed through details. You can combine these with other Schrock finishes to create accents for your unique kitchen. In addition, Schrock has added distressing as an option to most of its door styles for an antique look.

The new door style, Harper, a partial overlay door in rustic alder, creates a great country look on its own or in combination with other styles.

Well known for its storage features, Schrock has added even more options—a 6" deep utility organizer for maximum storage in a minimum space; vanity pullouts

At our annual company meeting, January 21, Debra Bobo of the design department, and Florencio Garcia of our warehouse staff, were named the Outstanding Employees of the Year for 2007.

and cosmetic centers; improved base pantry pullouts and hearth pullouts; and an improved base Lazy Susan with chrome rails and independently rotating shelves.

Customize your home office with Schrock's newest office options! With new bookcases, wood tops, corner cabinet and file drawers we can design a workspace that will get you organized and delight you as well!

Call today and let your CSI representative tell you about these and other options to make your living spaces more functional and a pleasure to use.
